Messe Berlin to become member of the World Tourism Alliance (WTA)

WTA's Secretary-General to meet with Messe Berlin management during ITB Berlin 2019

WTA members include national tourism associations, influential tourism enterprises, academic institutes and other institutions from around the world. Messe Berlin, which is among the top ten trade fair and event organizers worldwide, has been officially awarded membership of the WTA World Tourism Alliance. ITB China is an international Messe Berlin spin-off and set to take place from 15 to 17 May in Shanghai for the third time. The partnership will help strengthen the communication between the global and Chinese travel industry. Through deep cooperation and the support and commitment of the WTA sustainable tourism growth from China can be fostered.

"In this multi-layered world the WTA truly plays a unifying role in the drive for global cooperation and development in tourism", said Dr. Martin Buck, Senior Vice President, Travel & Logistics Messe Berlin. "Its message of integration and cooperative dialogue has convinced us in the same way as leading tourism representatives, destinations and institutions around the world. As the World's Leading Travel Trade Show we share this vision too".

WTA's Secretary-General, Mr. Liu Shijun attended multiple events at ITB Berlin and met with David Axiotis, General Manager of ITB China and Dr. Martin Buck to talk about possible initiatives and projects. "We are very much honored that Messe Berlin has joined WTA and confident that with its expertise and experience we can build a more competitive and responsible tourism industry for the benefit of all", said WTA's Secretary-General, Mr. Liu Shijun
